Old Sitcom: New Award-Winning Season

Northern Experiences a Blue Ribbon Year

"All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players; they have their exits and their entrances, and one man in his time plays many parts" -- William Shakespeare. A school year is like a favorite television show. It has its ups, downs, smiles and frowns. Having unforgettable friends is just like watching a sitcom: they are always making each other laugh. High school years are drama-filled years. It seems that whatever one does, drama follows. Then, unfortunately, sadness comes when the school year ends. It's like a final episode of a favorite television show. A school year brings out the best in everyone. It shows that with hard work and determination one can produce a monumental movie of his life that can change and affect other peoples' lives for the better. A monumental experience that happened during the 2013-2014 school year was that Northern Garrett High School received the Maryland Blue Ribbon, an award of excellence, given to only two high schools in the state, and was contending for a national title as well. Principal Reichenbecher said, " I will always remember the day that I received the phone call from the Maryland State Department of Education, informing me of Northern High School begin identified as a Maryland Blue Ribbon School. What an exciting and proud moment that was! Dedicated teachers and support staff, hard-working students, caring and involved parents, along with community support created the team that made this recognition a reality. This accomplishment is something that should instill pride in each one of us." The Blue Ribbon is just one of the ways the Huskies made this a season to remember.

Class of '14

"I'M SO EXCITED!" "I'm so scared." These are the thoughts of every senior who has graduated from high school. Many had a major case of Senioritis when approaching the end of their high school experience and were Saved by the Bell. This season of their life was ending as a new season was beginning. Most of them were thinking of doing something spectacular with their lives, like going to college, finding a great career, and changing the world. When looking back on the memories of their four years in high school, they should remember the good and bad times because they all are learning experiences. Whether they were the Head of the Class, an underdog like Rudy, a Farm King, or made lasting friendships like in Finding Nemo, they will endure. The legacy they made within the school will leave a paw print and never fade. They will be a part of Northern, wherever they may go. Seniors made their own paths to success in this high definition world and are starting to create their future. They made it! Now they are ready to make their mark on the world.

Feautured on the television screen, Brody Monahan and Justin Derato enjoy the bonfire before the home football game versus Southern. In picture 2, Madeline Flores and Zachary Haer admire the snack machine. When asked what they were looking forward to after high school, Tiffany Crosby, picture 3, wants to earn money. In picture 4, Holly Billmeyer and Deanna Delaney both show their excitement to have graduated high school. In picture 5, Taryn Barger works hard in English class. Christina Dana, picture 6, wants to travel the world.

Underclassmen 101

Some underclassmen only have one year left until they become the Highest Rated students. Next, are the The Inbetweeners, halfway through their high school existence. And finally, the school Welcome(s) Freshmen to their own Degrassi experience. Being in high school, in general, is tough. Completing homework, waking up on time, studying for tests, and dealing with cliques, and drama are all a part of the school experience. Students will discover who their real friends are. High school is a period of time to find out who they really are. It is a time to start figuring out what one wants to do in life and how to make an impact on the world. Taking certain classes, for example, like Theatre, allows them to be who they are and express themselves. This is a time where students make memories, so make them worthwhile and cherish them. These four years before going out into the world define who stands or who falls. Be the one who stands strong and valiant.

"Hollywood is like high school, there are always going to be people who hate you and people who like you. When you're a teen, [that's tough] because you're hyper-aware of what other people are gonna say and think. But neither defines who you are as a person or how successful you are unless you let them."
-Debby Ryan

2

Featured on the television screen are Olivia Bennett, 9, Todd Harding, 10, and Sarah Hockman, 11. When asked for their first thoughts of high school, Olivia was scared at first, but then felt better, and Matthew Bittinger (picture 3), "didn't have any first thoughts." When asked what they were looking forward to about being seniors next year, all juniors, Sarah Hockman, Matthew Martin (picture 5), Sierra Livengood, and Ashley Jones (picture 6) wanted to graduate. In picture 2, Cara Gilpin, 10, and Alyssa LaMott, 10, show their excitement for the school day. In picture 4, Amanda Folk, 10, works hard in Spanish class.

The Huskies' Family

Students at Northern High School are one big family. They have bonfires before big football games (like pictured to the right) and enjoy spending time together, whether it be at dances, games, war of the classes, or parades. They do so much more than just sit in class together. Outside of school they goof off, laugh, and cherish each others' company. Although some don't always get along, they all share good memories. As the saying goes, "[They] didn't realize [they] were making memories, [they] just knew [they] were having fun." Students will remember most activities outside the classroom and their four years of high school, even if they can't wait for those years to pass now and won't remember specific dates and names later. In reality, those years end as quickly as an episode of a favorite TV sitcom. Enjoy them while they last; there are no reruns.

"Laughter is timeless. Imagination has no age. And dreams are forever."
-Walt Disney

Vanity Fair

The Garrett County Agricultural Fair is held in July at the Garrett County Fair grounds. The fair offers music, food, rides, truck and tractor pulls, livestock shows and much more. Many students show animals they raise at the fair; most of these students are also active members of the school's FFA or the county's 4-H club. Dirty Jobs

Although kids attend school throughout the day, many have jobs to do after school as part of entering into adulthood. Some work to save money for a car or college, while others just work for extra spending money. Workplaces vary from fast-food restaurants to movie theaters. While some get serious at work, others have fun. Maintaning a good work ethic and grades can be a challenge to many, but students at NHS "make it work."

Husky Wild

At Northern High School friendships and memories that will last a lifetime are created. Garrett County is known for having a small town atmosphere, but that didn't stop the Huskies from having fun and going wild. In and out of school, friends helped each other become the best they could be. Friendship is a strong bond that lasts forever. Having friends made school so much easier because it gave students something to look forward to every day and allowed them to have fun while learning.

The Biggest Winners

We've all got a gift and something to give to make a change. With one little action the chain reaction never stops. Students at Northern High School put this philosophy into action and became winners when it came to helping the community. The Huskies were not just a team, but a family: a family fighting for a better tomorrow. Causes the students supported included the Dove Center, the American Cancer Society, Shoes for Souls, the American Red Cross and others. Not only did they make a difference, they had fun doing so.

Once upon a Prom

Prom: the night many students dream of. Despite stressing about appearance, what to wear, who to go with and how to get there, it all comes together on that special night. The prom theme was "Masquerade." Many wore a mask as part of their attire. The big event was held at Frostburg State University where everyone danced to music provided by Sound Fusion Entertainment. Many continued to celebrate this night by attending the after-prom at the CARCC, where fun, games , and prizes were awarded. That night everyone enjoyed "prime time" with friends.

Are We Done Yet?

Life is a ride, so take the journey. The last field trip of a school career is certainly a trip no senior will forget. The senior class visited Six Flags Amusement Park in Washington, D.C. Not all seniors attended, but the ones who did, enjoyed it. They got to stay after closing and enjoy the rides in the dark. The senior parade, another tradition, was made memorable by a hearse, a pirate ship, and a variety of decorated vehicles. Seniors celebrated by throwing candy and spraying silly string.

Are you Smarter Than a Husky?

Academic subjects are an important part of education, allowing students to achieve positive outcomes for their futures and bring greater opportunities for what they want to do with our lives. Academics can give students ideas about possible career choices. Skills are taught, which may be needed to enter college or the workforce. Also,they help when students are farther down the road, like using math at the grocery store or using skills from carpentry and geometry when building a bookshelf or painting a wall. Along with academics, students have also learned general life skills. With this knowledge, they will be able to do their own laundry, file taxes, maintain a vehicle, plant a garden, or buy a home. Students found entertainment value in Theatre class and working as a team while using business skills in their yearbook class. With this abundance of knowledge gained along the way, students can handle any challenge that life has to offer. No matter where they go in life, the skills they learned in high school will be with them forever.

Students enjoy the benefits of English class.

English is a class in which students learn skills for effective communication. Everything that a student learns in English is applicable to his or her life and is beneficial in the future. For instance, speaking, listening, organizing, writing, researching, and critical thinking skills allow students to be successful regardless of their future career choice. In the new Common Core Curriculum given to teachers, there are more requirements for writing assignments in every class, including English, which makes the skills learned there essential in all content areas. The English classes offered prepare students for college, which is much more advanced than high school. Although English isn everyone's favorite class, it has many advantages for students. Students are required to take fou years of English. While all courses address writing and grammar skills, freshman English courses provide an introduction to literary genres sophomore English includes World literatu Junior English includes American literature, and senior English includes British literature. Each English class offers a challenging curriculum which pushes students to work to the best of thei ability. Isiah Smith says that "English has importance because it is cultural, and it also brings people together in that aspect."

The math department offers a variety of courses such as algebra, geometry, calculus, personal financial business, as well as AP level coursework.

With an incresingly demanding job market centered around math, science, and technology, students' understanding of mathematical principles is crucial to their success, thus making their coursework in high school useful in the future. From the most advanced technological career to the every-day task of balancing a household budget, math is an essential part of life. Gone are the days when math class consisted of merely a pencil and paper. Teachers today engage thei students with a variety of learning tools including SMART response remote software manipulatives, hands-on activities, and even geometric art design. "I have the advantag of a large classroom, and have found tha students find it easier to practice math skills and processes when they get to move around th room. Busting the Myths at Northern Garrett High School

Every day people wonder how and why the things around them work the way that they do. For example, when throwing a baseball, what makes the ball go the distance that it does before it hits the ground? Or when adding one chemical substance to another, what makes them interact differently? The science department's goal is to provide a basic knowledge to answer those questions. Alexandria Miller (10), says, "Science is important in life because science is money and money is good." Mrs. Glass and Mrs. Kenyon-Sisler's Earth Science and Environmental Science classes teach students about the way nature works and how it evolves every day. Students in Mr. Price's chemistry classes perform experiments and learn how different substances react with other substances to form bonds and reactions. Mrs. Kenyon-Sisler's Biology I and II classes are offered for students to learn about the inner connection of species and how ecosystems evolve. Mr. Berger's Physics class is offered for students who are interested in learning how the world around them works in daily life, such as why things fall when you drop them. To the left Andrew Mose (12), tries to define physics through his lab experiment.

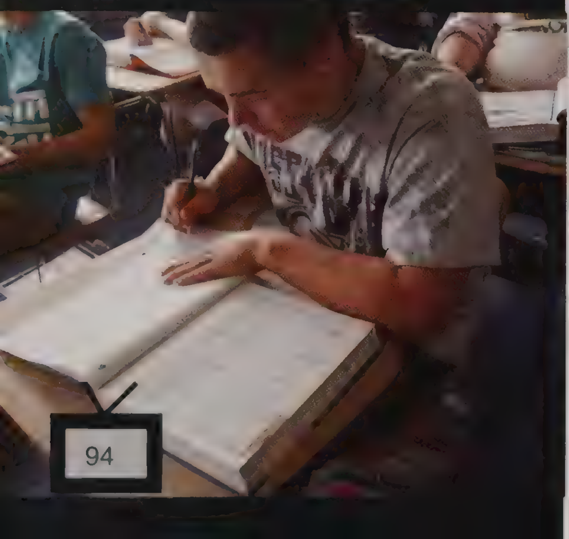
Taking a look back into the past...



Most everything that happens in the world today is related to social studies. Every world event affects every person in some way, at some point. Whether it's a war, or the tragedy of September 11, 2001, events have changed and shaped the world as we know it. Situations have been and will be read about for years to come in textbooks. Learning about past events helps students to understand and learn about global problems. Katrina Darby (11) says "Social studies is an important class because it helps you learn about the past to prevent things from happening in the future." At Northern High School, a student is required to take three social studies classes during his/her four years. Freshman social studies focuses on U. history, sophomore social studies focuses government, and junior social studies focuses World History. Psychology and Contempora Problems are offered as social studies elective The experience of being in social studies class allows students to gain a basic understanding previous world events, giving them perspective current world issues. Social studies helps studen to understand human interactions that occurred the past, are occurring now, and that are likely occur in the future. Without social studies classe students cannot comprehend how we as huma caused our past problems, contribute to them no or can solve them in the future.

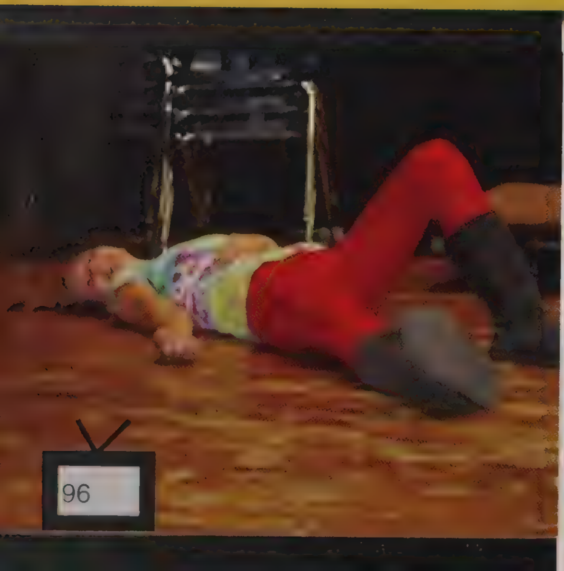
Students find ways to show off their artistic abilities in unique ways.



Students at Northern have the opportunity to choose from a variety of Fine Art classes. Mr. Paxton teaches Art I, Art II, Art III and Studio Art to students on different skill levels. Art I is for students who are being introduced to art for the first time; Arts II and III advance from that to enhance students' art skills. Studio Art is offered for advanced art students to create and keep projects of personal interest. Another fine arts component, Mr. Salisbury's piano class is an opportunity for students to learn how to play the piano well. They begin class by learning the basics, such as the names of each key and by the end of the semester they are playing songs known to people everywhere. Mr. Salisbury's chorus class, students get express themselves through the use of th voices. They get a chance to sing their favor songs and also perform as a group in chor concerts. Another performance based class, Mrs. Virts's Theatre class, where students get learn very exciting and fun warm-up exercises express their talents. The students learn how be comfortable in front of an audience and al how to perform in a variety of shows, rangin from one-act plays to musicals. Hol Lowdermilk says that she enjoys theatre becau she gets to have fun with her friends.

The advantages of learning a foreign language

Many people who live in the United States do not speak English. In general, most people will come in contact with a foregin citizen in their daily living activities at least once in their life. Whether it's at work, at a grocery store, or while traveling, this occurance has become more common. Communicating can definitely pose a problem. But luckily, there are classes offered at Northern High School that can help. Spanish classes are offered that equip students with basic language skills that can be used in thier daily lives. Brody Monahan, a student who studied Spanish, recently attended a trip to Spain. He says that " I felt like I understood some of the Spanish. I was able to carry on a conversation with some of the Spaniards." Students are required to take at least two years of Spanish. This gives them a basic knowledge of the culture, holidays, religion, and the background of that language. Students really learn to appreciate the traditions and culture of other countries. This skill is also an advantage when applying for jobs. More jobs, especially in big cities, use foreign languages every day and even require it for employees. With this valuable skill, students are prepared to enter the real world and have the ability to communicate with non- native people.

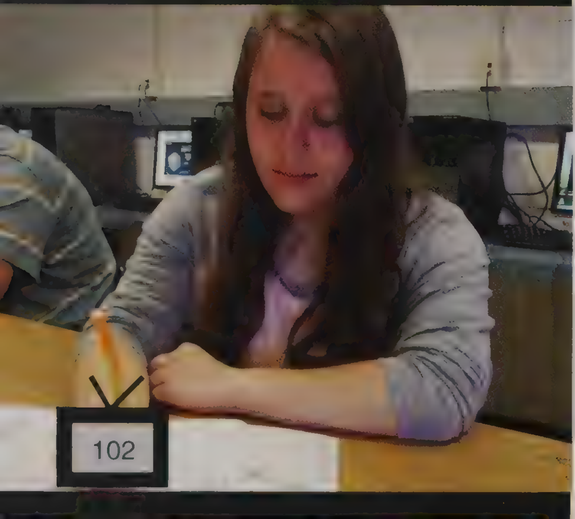
Leading the way with technology today



Steve Jobs, Bill Gates, Mark Zuckerberg... what do these people have in common? They all created computer programs and technology to make our lives much easier. It seems that no matter what career, hobby or interest one may have, technology impacts us every day. Northern High School is doing its part to teach students the value of technology and its various uses. Students took advantage of a variety of courses, including business classes like Desktop Publishing, Web Design, and Office Systems Management. Computer courses offered included Computer Applications and Computer Programming. Students had the oportunity to learn how to use the computer as a resource to help them complete academic assignmen now, and prepare them to enter the workforce later. These courses prepare students for careers and life skills in a soci where computers and technology permeate every aspect of life. According to Mr. Lewi " Almost every career today will use computers and technology in one way or another. It is very important that students are computer literate so they can use the technology tools to their benefit and be abl to keep up with the global marketplace."

Carpentry and automechanics classes are useful for students in the future because the skills taught are some of the most necessary for students who are planning to go straight to work from high school. Many of these skills will not only help prepare students for the work force but can prove helpful later in life. These skills are money and time savers, for example, replacing worn roofing or rotten wood on a porch, changing the oil in one's vehicle or fixing a flat tire. According to Mr. Beitzel, carpentry teacher, who has worked at Northern High School for 10 years, "If you look at the past, everything we have today, someone needed to build and maintain. As we look to the future, things still need built and maintained. Learning Carpentry is a basic [skill] for many other employment opportunities in the work force." Mr. Moranduzzo, the auto mechanics teacher says that auto class is important for the students because it "gets students interested in auto, provides the the basic skills needed to go to college or prepares students to enter the work force."

Both of these classes are important and will help students with Home Improvement or Counting Cars.

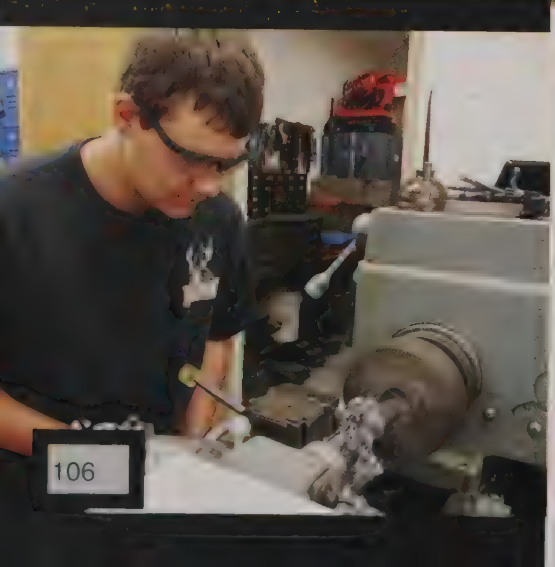
Learning the Everyday Life of a Farmer



Today many people rely more heavily on machinery, which provides a faster and more efficient way of doing things. Some students enrolled at Northern High School are interested in the machinery trade. Machine Tool I is offered to students to teach them industrial safety and metal characteristics. Machine Tool II introduces additional, tougher machine tasks. Lastly Machine Tool III introduces advanced projects and brings students to job-level readiness and may include an internship experience. Michael Rodeheaver (10) says that he enjoys Machine Tool because it gives him skills that he can use when he is older, and he enjoy making things with his hands. Another vocationa program offered is Wildlife and Forestry where students demonstrate introductory knowledge o management of timber by-products and wood lots. Introduction to Agriculture class gives a general study of careers, livestock, plant and so science, FFA, welding, carpentry, and othe mechanical skills. Principles of Agricultura Science offers an in-depth study of plant physiology and processes. Principles o Agricultural Science of Animals is offered to study animal and veterinary sciences.

Child care and allied health classes provide skills which can be used on a daily basis. Child care prepares students to enter the world of early childhood education. It is the perfect pathway for those who wish to someday become licensed day-care providers or early childhood educators. Those choosing not to enter these fields will still gain valuable information that can help with parenting in the future. The academic experience is enhanced by the opportunity to visit local daycare centers and early-childhood classrooms.

Allied health class prepares students who wish to pursue a career in the medical field. Students study systems of the body prior to applying that knowledge with hand-son procedures such a taking someone's blood pressure. Like th child care students, allied health student complete part of their training on site at loca hospitals and nursing homes. Wide World of Sports

Northern Huskies have the privilege of playing many different sports. Playing sports requires sportsmanship, skills, and the ability to communicate with others. As team members, athletes learn to make friends: friends that may become competition on the field, track, or court. However, the real competition begins in the classroom, where "making the grade" allows students to play for the team. Besides the friendly competition, teamwork, and friendship, the players love the "sports families" who come to cheer for them. 2014 may have been the year for the Olympics all over the world, but being a part of the Huskies' teams is like competing in the Olympics year round. As Michael Jordan once said, "Never say never because limits, like fears, are just often an illusion" Try your best, live for the game, and don't let that "loss" keep you from playing next time! That's all this time, Garrett County! Stay tuned next time for The Wide World of Sports!

Touchdown!

Let's see the replay.

"The call is....good. The Huskies score again!" The Northern Huskies had another fun season and showed their enduring spirit by playing hard throughout season, injuries and all. Both the JV and Varsity teams illustrated what it meant to be a Husky.

The JV team experienced another winning season, displaying the talent that will move up to the varsity team, which experienced some winning moments. During the homecoming game, the Huskies pulled out a stellar win against Berkley Springs. During Senior Night, the seniors played the final game of their high school career. The team played hard, but it ended in defeat 12-3. Still, it was a memorable game with their greatest rival, Southern Garrett. The game had everthing, including a ceremony that celebrated the seniors who played their last home game. The exciting plays, the halftime show and pep talk, and the chill of the air, are all experiences that will be with them forever. Overall, the season looked like a losing season, but the numbers are deceiving. They cannot show the players' dedication as they pulled through injuries resulting in key players being out for much of the season. This team has truly shown their husky spirit, and the memories that they have made will not be forgotten!

"Golf is a game whose aim is to hit a very small ball into an even smaller hole, with weapons singularly ill-designed for the purpose," said Winston Churchill. Some may think that golf is a boring sport and easy to master, but the golf participants at Northern High School think differently and love the sport that they play. Brandon Raley, senior, shares his thoughts about golf: "It's a very unique sport, but it is challenging as well. I have been a member of the team for all 4 years of my high school career, and I plan on continuing to play throughout my life." Senior Brady Benton ended his high school golf career with a state qualification. He finished his season with an average of 44.62 in 13 matches. Senior Jeffrey Bittinger had the best individual average of 44.38 The golf team ended their season with a total of 24 wins and 12 losses.

The boys' soccer team stared the new season with two new foreign exchange students, one from Spain and the other from Brazil. Along with the returning players from last year, the boys' varsity soccer last most of their team, which were last year's seniors. They were, however, lucky to earn two new foreign exchange students who were both talented players. Diego Riesco shares his thoughts with us about how it is different playing soccer in Spain than in America." Soccer isn"t much different in Spain: the only thing that was different was that I played a different position." The varsity boys ended their season with a record of 8-7-1. They played their hardest and plan to perform even better next year. The junior varsity boys ended with a record of 7-8-1. They are determined to improve their record next year and to continue having fun while doing so.

Dominating the Field with Strength and Force

As a new season began, the Lady Huskies strove for a new beginning. Starting with a new coach. Mr. Nicklin, a current teacher at NHS, led the team to new opportunities. Jinny Warn shared her thoughts about being a freshman on the varsity soccer team."It's a lot of fun, but you just have to work extremely hard to show you're good enough. You have to take things very seriously." The varsity soccer team ended with a well earned record of 13-3-1. They won one of their playoff games but lost the other. The girls played a great season of soccer and were determined to play even greater next season. The junior varsity ended their season with aa record of 4-4-3. The girls look forward to the opportunity to continue playing for the the Huskies.

New Coach, New Era for the Lady Huskies

The Lady Huskies started off their 2013 season with unique changes from previous years. There was a new coach, and there were also sophomores on the varsity team. The new coach, Mrs. Arnold said, "Time management and organization are always challenges when starting a new career. Juggling my new position as a school counselor here at NHS and coaching volleyball has given me the opportunity to embrace both skills, and has allowed me to overcome those particular challenges!" One of the sophomores on the varsity team, Alexis Bagley, shared her thoughts with us. "Its a big accomplishment. We work hard and play harder. I couldn't ask for better girls to play volleyball with."

Looking at the team's record can be misleading. The Lady Huskies worked as a team to impove skills, which will be beneficial for next year. The junior varsity team ended their season with 4 wins and 6 losses. Junior varsity won matches against Southern, Salisbury, and Keyser. The varsity team had a record of 2 wins and 10 losses. The varisty team beat both Bishop Walsh and Salisburg, but ended their season with a tough loss to Southern in the first round of playoffs.

"Remember, the feeling you get from a good run is far better than the feeling you get from sitting around wishing you were running." -Sarah Condor. Cross country is a sport where runners run a race of about three miles on natural terrain. The 2013 cross country team had a great season. All seven male teammembers qualified for the state competition, with junior Levi Cameron placing 4 out of 118 runners. Senior Ashley Murphy was the only girl on the cross country team to go to states for the Northern team. She was the first Northern girl to qualify for states since 1997. Ashley placed 18 out of 91 female runners. Endurance, perserverence, and strength are all traits that these runner had as they raced to the top!

Cue the Villains!

Listen for your life!

Action! This year, the Northern High School Marching Band featured some of the villains of the screen and the stage, including some from Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, The Nightmare Before Christmas, The Phantom of Opera, and the hit broadway show Wicked. The band show was described as terrific", and 'exciting." Trudging through rain and mud, they buried their competitors by winning their first competition in Keyser, WV. Whether during half-time or on cold wet Saturdays, they brought the feel of the villains to the stadium. In order to hit the next competition on the head, they needed to prepare their plan of attack. Performing was not easy. Students arrived early in the morning on Saturdays and arrived back at the school late, somethimes after midnight. Despite all of the challenges, performing was still fun for them. One band show after another, the band showed their diabolical plans to the public and the judges. They spread their crimes at band shows and also football games and parades. Drum Major, Cameron Newman commented "The show itself is very difficult, and everyone must work on his/her own part for the overall picture. The band has stepped up and is performing the show beautifully." The band went to the Atlantic Coast Championship for the third straight year with their "killer" show.

Love & Basketball

Teamwork, Dedication, and Hardwork!

Basketball is not only a professional or college sport, it is a high school sport as well, and the Huskies are great at supporting their players. Practice is the most important thing in building a successful season for the players. They learned that trust, hardwork, dedication, and TEAMWORK are all it takes to win and have fun. Their coaching staff was a great help in accomplishing the task of helping the players achieve and excel. Starting guard Adam Warnick stated:"In 24 hours I might be putting on my #11 Northern Huskies jersey one last and final time. I can't imagine my life and where I'd be without basketball. I've grown so much,and now finally being a senior I get to play one of my last games as a Husky. I would like to thank everyone who supported me through this journey. Also, I would like to thank all my teammates and coaches for making my final season the most memorable." Basketball shows the growth of the players over time. They have proven that there is no "I" in team.

Hoop and Holler

The varsity girls started off their season with a new assistant, Ms. Jody Pepple, who used to coach the Lady Bobcats at Frostburg State University. The junior varsity also started off a new season with a new coach, Mr. Peck and a new assistant, Mrs. Robin Arnold. Along with the returning players from last year, varisty earned two more girls: Emily Parandhamaia, 10, and Emma Edwards, 10. Emma shared her thoughts about being moved up to a varsity level as a sophomore. "Being a sophomore on varsity is different from the JV level, which I like because I push myself to a higher level." The girls' varsity ended with a record of 5-15. They finished out the season against the Fort Hill Sentinels. They put up an awesome fight and kept their enthusiasm despite a losing season. According to their coaches, the girls vastly improved from the beginning of the season to the end. Got Six Minutes?

BEYOND THE MAT

Being part of the Northern wrestling team takes a lot more than just strength. Wrestlers have to be committed, possess endurance, be physically and mentally focused, and most importantly, have a passion for the sport. Wrestlers must have a lot of will power to wrestle in their weight class. Most of them put in long hours at practice, with running, lifting weights, and practicing technique. They have to watch what they eat to meet the weight requirements of the weight class in which they wrestle. Six wrestlers qualifed for the regional tournament: Steven Yutzy, Justin Opel, Kody Osselburn, Chris McCann, Nate Durst, and Ryan Miller. Two of the wrestlers, Kody Osselburn and Justin Opel qualified for the state competition at the University of Maryland. Opel placed second and Osselburn placed fourth in their weight classes. The team had a record of 10-4. They had an awesome season and the coaching staff could not ask for a better group of boys to work with.

A League of Their Own

Softball-Outsanding in their Field

The Lady Huskies' softball team started their season with nine girls on varsity and eleven on junior varsity, with the help of two floaters. They had coaches who have taught, played, and umpired the game for a long time. The varsity head coach was Mrs. Debbie Brenneman. She has been coaching softball for about six years. She has shown the girls that anything can happen if they set their minds to it. Also working with the team was former Olympian softball player Mackenzie Vaandergeest, who has played softball for 28 years. She has been very helpful in hitting, and she specialized in catching techniques. A few of the girls were fortunate to meet her and learn from her at the Jenny Finch Clinic in Virginia.Ms. Vaandergeest commented:"I am greatful for the sport of softball. It has helped mold the kind of person I am today! This sport has given me a life that I would have never imagined: the people and friends I have met and the places I have been around the world." This year's team was not only a group of girls, but more importantly, a "family." The team was fortunate in the enthusiam and talent portion to help the season run smoothly. They ended the season with a record of 4-13.The coaching staff was proud of the girls on their hardwork and dedication on the past season.

Field of Dreams

Huskies Cover all the Bases

The Northern Garrett High School baseball team started the season with 16 young men on varsity, four of whom were seniors. The Huskies also had 15 players on their junior varisty team. The team's coach, Phil Carr, celebrated his 300th win as the Huskies' head baseball coach. The coaching staff showed the boys that baseball is not just an easy sport but a sport that takes hardwork, leadership, and most of all TEAMWORK. Baseball is not a sport that can be played with one or two players.; it is a total team effort. Each of the players on the field had an important job. Leadership is vital to a team's success. Baseball takes a great amount of hardwork and dedication. Players have to be willing to put in extra time in the off season to improve on their own. In fact, most of the Huskies continue to play baseball well into the summer on Legion and Hot Stove leagues. According to Coach Carr, "Out of 28 players, only two will not be playing this summer. That is no doubt one of the reasons for the amount of success we have had over the years in baseball." The junior varsity baseball team had a record of 10-4. The varsity baseball team ended its season with a 14-7 record. They won their first round playoff game, but unfortunately, lost in the second round. Next season the team plans to slide in and steal the state championship.

Running in Circles

Ready, Set, Go!

"When I think of track, I think of left turns and speed," said junior Levi Cameron. Wha ever comes to mind when one thinks of track, there is no doubt about it, the year was exciting for both the girls' and boys' track team. The boys sent five runners to states, and the girls sent an astonishing record of thirteen to the Maryland State Track and Field Championships. Brady Benton finished second in the 300 meter hurdles, and Ashley Murphy finished third in the 110m hurdles and fifth in the 300m hurdles. The girls' 4x800 m relay consisting of Madilyn Riesco, Madi Gallagher, Kaitlyn Smith, and Maria Ganoe finished fourth, breaking a school record. These were a few of the highlights experienced by both teams this year. Although running can be a lonely sport, it can also bring people together. The lonely hours spent running in the harsh elements can be shared with team members as they cheer each other from the bleachers. Assistant coach Tusing said "As a coach, I enjoyed watching individuals buying into our system and philosophy and then working to get results. We had individuals do this from day one and then saw it become part of the collective structure of the team. As a whole, it is the most improvement I have ever witnessed in a team over one season."

Tennis Anyone?

No love lost

Love is a beautiful word on television, but not so if you are a tennis player! Being a part of the Northern Garrett High School tennis team took dedication, hard work, endurance and a great team effort. The players often had to take time on their own to improve. Even though neither team went to states, the girls' team had two doubles and two singles qualify for bi-counties and the boys also had two singles and two doubles go to bi-counties. The singles for girls were Nina Harris and Kylie Mauricci, and the boys were Brady Benton and Paul Zimmerman. The girls doubles were Christa Bowser and Allison Paul, and Sydney Bennett and Sara Paul. Sydney and Sara suffered a tough loss in the second round of bi-counties. The boys' doubles teams were Brady Benton and David Becker, and John Major and Paul Zimmerman. Overall, the Northern team had a successful year, despite the cold weather and rain.

The Dream Team

Unified for Excellence

The sports world is sometimes dominated by competition, but sometimes what is missed is the sheer enjoyment of the game. The unified teams are designed to bring a diverse group of students together. At competitions students can learn valuable skills and build character traits such as courage and perseverance, while team work and individual skills are strengthened. Although these sports may not appear difficult, the real indication is how much was learned and how much fun the students had. These sports provide partnership between the general school population and special education students, and allow students to form valuable friendships as well. The unitied tennis team combined with Southern High. Nina Harris and Sara Paul were "instrumental in teaching and leading the team," said Coach Wingerd. Everyone learned life lessons while improving their tennis skills. While the bocce team was waiting on the bracket games to play out, Northern saw their toughest opponent emerge from the bronze medal game. The huskies played The Barons for the gold. The husky Bocce team went undefeated throughout the day. They put up a 3 point frame to gain the well-needed breathing room and then stuck the final frame to seal the victory. They won the GOLD!!

Bring it On

Do you Have What it Takes to be a Cheerleader?

With a season lasting three-fourths of the year, cheerleaders must be very dedicated. Cheerleading is an activity that involves tumbling, stunting, and the promotion of school spirit. Team requirements ranged from the ability to smile and shout to performing with precision difficult gymnastics and advanced stunting. In addition to cheering for the Huskies, they also spent a weekend away from school activities in order to show off their hard work and skills at a competition. This year the team had the opportunity to participate in the Reach the Beach competition in Ocean City, MD. The girls placed sixth overall. The girls always support the motto, " I am a cheerleader. I Teach, Encourage, Achieve and Mentor. Go TEAM! " The girls showed their teamwork this year by participating in the Homecoming pep rally and decorating the school during spirit week. They also participated in a cheer camp and sponsored a car wash to raise money to support the team. As junior Kayli Dunithan said, being part of a team and working together to achieve our goals is what I like the most as a member of the cheer team." Each performance was"filmed before a live audience" and was themost fun when there was audience participation. Let's go Huskies!!
